

5-Minute

RELATED SERVICES Collaboration Check-In

Strong teams don't happen by accident. Take 5 minutes to reflect on how educators and related services providers on your team communicate, coordinate, and work together to support students.

Quick Pulse Check

Think about your school's current practices. Select the response that best reflects your team's typical experience.

	Usually	Sometimes	Not Yet Consistently
1 Educators and related services providers have clear, consistent ways to communicate.	☐	☐	☐
2 Team members understand one another's roles and how their work connects to shared student goals.	☐	☐	☐
3 Providers have opportunities to share observations and coordinate support with educators.	☐	☐	☐
4 When schedules or competing priorities make collaboration difficult, our teams have a way to work through those barriers.	☐	☐	☐
5 Our teams communicate about student progress and adjust supports when needed.	☐	☐	☐

Identify One Opportunity

Where could stronger collaboration make the biggest difference for your team right now?

- ☐ Communication and check-ins
- ☐ Role clarity and shared goals
- ☐ Time and opportunities to collaborate
- ☐ Coordinating student support and progress
- ☐ Working through scheduling
- ☐ Other barriers: _____

What's one small change that could help?

Ex: establish brief monthly check-in between providers and classroom teams

Next Steps

Choose one small, realistic action to explore with your team over the next few weeks.

Continue the Collaboration Conversation

Clear Path believes strong partnerships help schools better support the students they serve. We'd welcome the opportunity to hear what's working well for your teams and where additional collaboration might help.

clearpathpediatrictherapy.com

click or scan to connect →

Progress doesn't require a big initiative. A clearer communication routine or a five-minute conversation is a meaningful place to start.